Letter from the Editor

Well, well, well. Dear reader, it is with great sadness that I must inform you that you are reading the final edition of the Mosquito for the summer of 2019. We hope that this week's gives you as much joy as every week before. If every week's paper has given you no joy at all, well, at least we're consistent. As always, our writers have put together an incredible issue of the Mosquito, and many of them are moving forward with internships at Reuters after this summer. From myself and all the Radio & Newspaper staff, thanks for writing, and reading, and a great summer.

Robbie Dryer,
Editor in Chief

Where are the Chickens? A Poem

By the 50 ton bag of chicken feed the camp ordered

Woe, Woe! Oh NO!

The chickens were promised,

The train was Thomased!

Mark sent a letter,

My pain would get better.

But the camp was in fear,

Animals were near,

Chickens were gone

I was used as a pawn.

McDonalds: Don't McCome Here

By Jordan Murley

As a wee lad from Melbourne, Australia, Pacific Ocean, I wanted a few things growing up: Free Kangaroos for all, Iceland to win the World Cup, Catalonian independence, and for the Australian Prime Minister to stop eating the country's watermelon supply.
What I did not wish for was that my chickens would be made into "nuggets" like a common Brisbanian Hen. Ronald Spencer Liangelo McDonald barged into my coop to steal Cynthia (4th largest in Oceania minus Nauru and Taiwan), my prized chicken.
Readers of the Mosquito, I beg of you never eat at McDonald's. EVER. Please? I think Chik-fil-a is okay but I haven't done my intersectional research yet. Cheers...

Onion Rings 2: of Gods & Kings

By Jacob Kinross and Zach Friedman

Greetings all, it's a wonderful day at Manitouwabing. Lots of love is going around. Last week, the Farber clan discussed their love of Onion Rings. They think they can play games like some kind of sadistic overlords. Here are the facts of the situation:
Onion Rings suck.

Love, Zach and Jacob

A MESSAGE FROM THE MANITOU MILK BOARD

Hello people of Manitou! It's the Manitou Milk Board, promoting the virtues of straight dairy. Did you know Adam Dennis of the Golden Seals (paid promotion) recovers after every MHL game with a cool glass of the white stuff? Julie Foster drinks milk and Lanny doesn't, and who do you think is stronger? That's what I thought. Halle Purther bathes in milk twice a week to keep her skin fresh. So today at lunch or at any meal, why not try a cool glass of milk? Your bones will thank you and the dairy farmers of Manitou will thank you. Lactose Intolerant? Just ask Jordan Tepper for some Lactaid. Thanks for your time, Lactose live on!
